IN spite of fog, Lindbergh flew non-stop from the capital of the United States to the capital of Mex-

The long distance non-stop flight, increasing fuel load, 's dangerous. Lindbergh should feel he has done his share in that direction. After his raturn from Paris, he said he would make any other flights to Europe via the Azores, the sensible route, taking fuel at the midway Islands, keeping his load light.

LANDING on Mexico's Valbuen military aviation field, Lindbergh found limself within two and a half miles of Mexico's greatest city, on a landing field six miles square. He would ot find anything like that near

New York, America's biggest city. Twenty-five miles out, on Long Island, there is the little field, so small that Lindbergh almost failed in his takeoff for Paris, barely missing trees, tor? slieds and telegraph wires.

LINDBERGH told reporters he hoped his non-stop flight would stim ulate aviation in Mexico and Central America. Let's hope it will also stimulate flying and flying-fields con-struction in his backward country What this country lacks in national and government flying sense is to some extent counterbalanced by individual flying supremacy. Good work does attract the eyes of the world and it is not forgotten. Tom May, famous cartoonist of a quarter day. J' was nearly 70 and he had done little work for many years. Once he drew a cartoon picturing a child on Christmas morning with an empty stocking. The tears of a whole city betokened the success of that great cartoon. Year after year at Christmas time, the cartoon is reprinted. It is used on letter heads and on folders. It is used in magazines and newspapers. The good work, the able work of Tom May goes on and will go on through the years.

C. A. Dice, authority on business from Ohio State university, speaks well when he says the tradition that presidential election is not a good business year is merely a myth. All signs point to a great business year in 1928. To expect anything else is to refuse to face the facts. We have too many myths in our lives. We pay too much heed to rumors. We abide too much by tradition. The thing to do with a myth is not to fear it. Forget

Salary Increases as Yule Gifts

Imbued with the Yuletide spirit, the retiring city council has enacted legislation authorizing salary increases for Solicitor Frank H. Hoover and Chief of Police Hugh J. Dermott and at the same time reconsidered its previous action in slashing the annual stipend of Mayor Ralph C. Benedum from $1,800 to $1,200.

The mayor's monthly pay check, now $150, will be unchanged on January 1, when he begins his second term, while the annual salary of the solicitor will be jumped to $2,100 from $1,500. The police department head, who was overlooked when pay increases were granted the police captain and patrolmen two years ago, will receive an increase from $170 to $190 a month.

The salary-boost legislation, containing emergecy clauses, affecting three members of the municipal family was adopted under a suspension of the rules requiring an ordinance to be read at three separate meetings. One vote was cast against the mayor's and solicitor's pay proposals, while the action on McDermott's salary

At the same time, proposals to increase the annual salary of City Auditor William M. McGraw from $1,680 to $1,980 and the monthly pay of Municipal Court Bailiff Carmen D. Hissam from $100 to $150 were temporarily sidetracked after being placed on first reading. Motion to sus; and the rules was defeated.

Since council is in the swary-raising mood, why hestitate to pay a living wage to underpaid officials? The city auditor and bailiff have as much reason to expect larger checks as others on the payroll. What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Chirotonsors

Word comes from Detroit that after Jan. 1, barbers in that word comes from Detroit that after sail. I, barbers in that Av ue stroll has been accustomed to form accusto "chirotonsorial studios, parlors and shoppes."

So the Associated Master Barbers of that thriving city have decided. They are even changing their own name to Associated decided. They are even changing their own name to Associated decided.

So "barbers," which has been a perfectly good English word has reached the same state of indifference to these lollipops as Paris age is being done by smoking than the perfect of the same state of indifference to these lollipops as Paris age is being done by smoking than the perfect of the same state of indifference to these lollipops as Paris age is being done by smoking than the perfect of the same state of indifference to these and Vienna. The barbers, for some peculiar reason or other, seem to think steps. Several beauty parlors have a idea the laugh it needs. I quote from to an industrial controversy to accept this queer verbal invention is better than a word that was good enough for Shakespeare and has served its purpose in English.

Steady male patronage and one callits letter-head:

Our Aim—"So to improve the chords of the throat through cigarette smokspeaking countries and most others, for that matter, since modern a sprinkling of marceled hybrids civilization began.

"Chiro" is said to be from "cheir," a Greek word meaning "hand." "Tonsor" is a Latin word meaning "shearer" or "shaver." "Barber" is from the Latin word meaning "beard."

Maybe it is isn't polite to refer to beards any more. Maybe "hand-cutter" is better. And maybe all of us will soon be going around shoppynge for chirotonsures instead of shaves or hair

So, little by little, we edge along toward elegance.

It's a little disconcerting, though, to learn from the Century Dictionary that the word "tonsorial" is "generally humorous." Can it be that the "tonsors" are trying to be funny?

The Business Set-Up

Here is an unusually clear line-up of the business situation and the immediate prospects. It is from Col. Leonard P. Ayres, banker and economist, who has gained unusual authority as a business analyst and prophet.

The American people, he says, are now in the closing phases of a three-year business cycle which began in 1924. The end of the decline is near. A new cycle is dawning. "The present prospects are that the conditions of general business will improve shortly.

There are four conditions necessary, he explains, for the re covery.

First, there must be expanding industrial production. It is reasonable to expect this early next year, because many essential industries are now producing less than the normal consumption. There is no direction to go but up.

Second, there must be plenty of credit, easily available. We have that, he says, and apparently are going to keep on having it.

Third, there must be agricultural well-being. The farmers are not yet prosperous, but they are better off than seemed possible a few months ago. Their buying power this winter and next spring will be better than it has been for several years.

Fourth, there must be a good export trade. That, he finds, "seems assured for at least most of the coming year."

Anybody ought to be able to grasp this set-up. And anybody but a confirmed, deep-dyed pessimist, stewed in his own gloom, cught to feel reassured enough to go right ahead in confident preparation for a good business year.

"Midnight blue" is the thing in dinner coats. But no need to worry if you wear the old-fashioned kind, because midnight blue been purty full an' happy, cept I've ed at noon.

Willard Chambers is ill with typhoid looks black.

Since nearly everybody's getting ready to feel cheerful in street, your business unless you spend about and Roland Horton of Elm street, $50,000 a year advertisin' it," said members of the expeditionary forces. 1928, why not start now?

BUILDING RAZED

St. John Berchman Institution Scene of Flames.

QUEBEC, Dec. 17. - The St. John Berchman boarding school was a mass of ruins today, the second educational institution to be razed by fire here in the last 48 hours. There were 1.2 boys asleep in the boarding school when the fire started in the basement last night, but all of them were on the first floor of the building and escaped uninjured.

With the terrible disaster at the Hospice St. Charles Wednesday night still fresh in their minds, 300 men besleged the boarding house when the fire started, breaking windows and fighting to gain admittance in order to rescue the youngsters. The men in charge of the school led the boys to safety in an orderly manner, however, and no one was injured.

be Awarded Next Month.

An agreement was reached yester-day afternoon between the Steubenville & Beaver Valley Traction company and the county commissioners relative to the division of their part of the cost of the construction of a new concrete bridge over Little Yel-low creek in Wellsville next spring. The state will bear part of the expense.

The structure will have a span of 75 feet, with a roadway 36 feet in width. Sidewalks will be placed on the north and south sides, making the bridge 50 feet wide. The length will be more than 100 feet.

A temporary trestle will be erected the traction company for use during the construction of the new span.
It is likely that the contract will be awarded by the state highway department next month.

MANDAMUS SUIT FILED IN COURT

An action in mandamus has been filed in common pleas court by Attor-ney Charles Boyd on behalf of Samuel Benventario, and against M. K. Zim-erman of Lisbon as insolvency commissioner of the county.

An insolvent's petition was filed with the commissioner on behalf of Benventario for the purpose of obtaining his release from the county jail, where he had been committed by Judge W. F. Lones in default of a fine of $500 and costs pronounced after Benventario had entered a plea of guilty to "possession." He had been indicted by the September grand jury for manufacturing distilled liquor.

Bob warmly welcome an gave him over to the custody of Al Gregory.

Alfred Tierney Gregory was Carmody's official yes-man. He was young, egotistical and ambitious—and Carmody was ambitious for him. He possessed to a marked degree that animal magnetism which spell-binds the unthinking majority of voters. He had a resonant voice which he used frequently and largely. which he used frequently and largely.

Al Gregory was a champion speaker; he orated on any and all occasions; he had at his tongue's tip every banal truism known to the political - provided one was not too keen a student of human nature — and he had a way with women and children.

Even in high school Al Gregory nad been a politician. He had been president of three classes, head of a debating society and manager of the football team on which he could not —or would not play. After graduating from the state university law school he entered city politics and was elected ward alderman by an hitter. overyhelming majority, in a bitter campaign which required much speaking and a great deal of political adroiness. In court he had shown marked ability as a cutter of cor-ners and a mesmerizer of juries—and John Carmody became interested.

His initial interview with Gregory was blunt. He surveyed the young man and asked him how he would like to become governor of the state. Gregory, shrewd judge of men, did not dissemble — and immediately

Gregory had no illusions about the fact that he belonged body and soul to Carmody. He knew that the ma-chine which Carmody controlled could make him or break him. And Al Gregory was not bothered by scruples. All he asked was that his record remain spotless so that no dynamite could be planted beneath his feet in the development of politi-
